ON THE OCCURRENCE OF *DRY-
MARCHON DICHROUS* (PETERS)
IN BRITISH GUIANA

Four specimens of Drymarchon dichrous (Peters) were secured by the expedition sent to Demerara in 1914 by the University of Michigan. The species was found at Dunoon on the Demerara River, and the specimens were taken on the sand reef, and in the lowland forest, and in trees, on the ground and in the water. This locality greatly extends the range of the species.

CORYTHOICHTHYS

In Jordan & Evermann, Fish. N. M. Amer. 1. p. 761, the name Corythoichthys Kaup, given to a genus of Pipe-fishes was spelled, through a copyist's slip: "Corythroichthys," with a redundant r. This error was not noticed at the time, and has been copied by the writer, who failed to verify the spelling, and by various subsequent authors, including a valued correspondent of Copeia.
